

CAR RAN WILD IN BROADWAY; 3 HURT.

Man Badly Hurt, Horse Killed, 20 Passengers Panic-Stricken and Road Blocked Half an Hour.

An open trolley car on the Broadway line crashed into two wagons this morning. As a result three were injured, one perhaps fatally; one horse was killed, two horses were frightfully wounded, a score of passengers were thrown into a panic and Broadway from City Hall to Great Jones street was blocked for half an hour.

The accident occurred shortly before 10 o'clock. Columbus avenue car No. 61, bound uptown, was creeping along between Great Jones and Fourth streets. Right behind it was a big double truck, the property of J. M. Lowden, of No. 74 West street.

The truck, driven by J. W. Logan, was loaded with boxes and barrels of woolen goods, and was proceeding very slowly on account of the crush of traffic.

Car Went Wild.
Suddenly the Columbus avenue car stopped, there was a buzzing of the motor, and then it started back at full speed. The motorman tried in vain to stop it, and, running at about ten miles an hour, it crashed into the horses and truck behind it.

The horses were forced under the truck and the car pushed it along almost to Great Jones street. Logan, at the first shock of collision, jumped and saved himself from injury.

The passengers on the car, panic-stricken, leaped to the street. At Great Jones street a light wagon, drawn by one horse, was proceeding northward in the car track. Just behind it was Broadway car No. 125.

The wagon was the property of Appel & Helman, a sponging firm, at No. 25 Canal street.

Joseph Appel, of No. 25 West Houston street, was driving, and on the seat beside him was Jacob Brown, fourteen years old, of No. 55 Henry street.

Platform Torn Away.
Appel saw the truck with the car behind it rushing upon him and tried to turn out of the track. At the same time the motorman of car No. 125 saw the approaching danger and attempted to reverse his car and back away. But before he could accomplish this the truck, with the power of the heavy car behind it, had struck the light wagon and hurled it against the front platform of car No. 125.

The shock caused car No. 61 to stop. Appel and Brown were thrown to the street and rendered unconscious. The horse was instantly killed.

The front platform and part of the roof of car No. 125 were torn away and the controlling machinery was wrecked.

The motorman barely escaped by leaping back through the front door. Six passengers in the car were badly shaken up.

Six Ambulance Calls.
An immense crowd gathered immediately. Six ambulance calls were sent out and the rescues were called from the Mercer street station. Appel, who was not badly injured, refused medical treatment. Young Brown was taken to Bellevue Hospital, and Isaac Levy, of No. 7 Pitt street, who had been riding on the rear platform of car 61, was picked out of the wreckage insensible and sent to St. Vincent's Hospital.

CARS PLUNGED OFF HIGH RAIL.
A Brakeman Mortally Hurt in D. L. and W. Wreck.

Passenger traffic on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway was resumed this morning after an all-night stall at Hackensack, N. J., due to a unique accident.

A wild freight and coal train came tearing down from Rockport Hill at 5.30 last evening, eager to clear the way for the fast line train, then nearly due to pass.

Suddenly a car wheel broke under a coal gondola and before the train could be stopped it had ripped up the rail and splintered the ties for several yards, derailing thirteen cars.

Part of the cars were plunged down a thirty-five foot embankment. The others were piled in a mass on the westbound track.

Jacob Hurdman, a brakeman, who was on the roof of a freight car which tumbled over the embankment, had his shoulders crushed and will die. He lives at Fort Morris.

Wrecking trains worked all night clearing away the wreck, which stalled all trains from Hoboken to Scranton.

$7,000 FOR HIS LEG.
Second Trial Brings Verdict Against Metropolitan Road.

John G. Everhardt, who lost his leg by being thrown off a First Avenue car at East Forty-fourth street, is the winner by $7,000 through having his case tried for the second time in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, to-day.

Everhardt sued the Metropolitan Railway Company, and a jury before Justice Gaynor brought in a verdict for him for $7,000. The judge set it aside, saying that he should receive $10,000 or nothing.

The case was tried again before Justice Mattice and damages of $7,000 were awarded.

GRADY COMES HOME.

Men's Blue and Black SERGE SUITS At $10, $12, $14, $15, $18.

FOR Summer-wear SERGE may almost be termed the "National Suit."

American common sense has displayed itself in the selection of serge for hot-weather wear, as in everything else. No fabric is so cool or comfortable as serge, and nothing is smarter or dressier than a suit of it if made in the proper way.

The fabrics that go into our serge suits are selected from the best American and foreign looms—fabrics that have been tried and tested for years.

All the newest effects are here in the medium, wide or narrow wale, the herring-bone and the new striped serges, made in the single breasted, broad-shouldered, military or regular sack style, vests single-breasted, trousers cut wide over the hips. The coats are full lined, half lined, or no lining at all; all sizes, 33 to 46.

J. W. LOGAN

Strange to say, the horses of the double truck, which had been rolled along under it for nearly a block, were found to be able to stand up when they were excited.

None of the horses was broken, but it is feared they will have to be destroyed as they were shockingly cut.

Motorman Arrested.
H. A. Farr, the motorman of car No. 61, was arrested and taken to the Mercer street station. He said that a truck had driven on the track in front of his car and he reversed the current in order to avoid a collision.

He had intended to reverse just enough to make a quick stop, but the lever went clear around and the car started back. An inspector took charge of car No. 61 and ran it to the car house, towing disabled car No. 125.

In the excitement William Winter Thompson was overlooked by the ambulance surgeons. He was severely injured about the legs and body, but an acquaintance took him to the Astor House. He is a nephew of William Winter, the veteran dramatic critic, and is himself well known as a dramatic writer.

What nations refuse to learn at one time they are forced to know at another—and you may say the same of Dry Goods stores.

There are some—many—that have never found out the profit there is in taking a loss—a small loss—a quick loss—one that achieves a purpose. It was one of the first lessons we learned, and it's a valuable one.

We apply it particularly to the Bargain Friday Sale. Lots that are too small—lots that are too large—goods that seem to sell slowly—some that sell very quickly—all find their way to the bargain tables on Fridays, reduced so radically that the selling out of each and every lot so offered becomes an absolute certainty.

We take many a loss that way, but what of that? It clears the deck for action; makes room for the never-ceasing stream of new merchandise that flows toward this store from all parts of the world. It keeps every box, shelf and counter in the entire store free and clear of accumulations—and that's worth all it costs.
